WILL COMPUTERS EVER BE MORE INTELLIGENT THAN PEOPLE?

Scientists claim that in 50 years' time, there will be computers that are likely to be even more intelligent than humans. This is fascinating, but I do not believe it will really happen.

It is true that computer scientists have made fantastic inventions over the last few years. They have put tiny chips in people's brains to help patients with Parkinson's disease. They have developed computers that can understand things people say, and can give meaningful answers. You don't really need to learn a language anymore because they have developed computers that can translate real time in any language what you are saying in your mother tongue.

But human intelligence is more than having a good memory.

In conclusion, in 50 years' time, we will probably have computers that can do things that today we cannot even dream of. But computers have not got a soul and I believe human intelligence will always be higher than the artificial one.

WHAT ARE THE ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES OF ORGANISED GRAFFITI WALLS IN CITY CENTRES?

Graffiti is a serious problem and the fact it is a crime doesn't stop young people leaving their "mark" on public and private buildings.

Because of graffiti, many of our city centres and suburbs seem dirty and dangerous.

To stop this "social disease", many town councils have organised "graffiti walls" - special places where graffiti artists can practise their art legally.

Graffiti walls bring young people together and help them to be creative. In addition, they show street artists how to use their art in a good way. But the greatest advantage is that they help stop graffiti on buildings. Statistics show that cities with graffiti walls have less vandalism.

On the other hand, there are people who think that graffiti walls do nothing to solve the problem. They argue that graffiti walls can make the problem worse, because they make the crime seem OK.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND CRIME

Statistics show that more under 16-year olds in our town have been convicted of shoplifting and burglary than ever. Small crimes like vandalism and graffiti have gone up by 20% compared to last year.

(Evening Herald - April 2023)

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to express my concern at the latest crime statistics reported in last Tuesday's Evening Herald.

The reason why we are seeing an increase in teenage crime is because this town offers very little for young people to do. Where is our sports centre, our cinema and our community projects? Teenagers need more than TV, computers, video games, phones to keep them busy at night. If we don't offer them something, we cannot really be surprised when we wake up to find more graffiti on our walls and more of our houses burgled.

I suggest a town meeting where members of the public (including the young) can try and work out a solution to this problem before it gets any worse.

Yours faithfully
Roger Davis

Traccia 4 (in lingua inglese)

AN IMPORTANT PERSON

The person who has taught me the most about life is my grandmother. My parents did a lot of travelling when I was younger so I spent most of my school holidays with her. She was more than just a grandmother to me and when she died a few years ago I felt I had lost a really good friend.

She always looked really good for her age. She had wavy grey hair a big round face with rosy cheeks. She was always smiling. She wasn't very tall and she was a little plump.

She was such a considerate person. She knew how much I missed my parents so she did everything she could to make me feel at home. She was also really imaginative and spent hours telling me stories that she had made up. I'm sure it's because of her I became a writer.

But as well as keeping a young boy entertained, she taught me so many important things. I was very impatient as a child and she taught me that good things happened if you could wait for them. She was such a positive person and she also taught me how to look for the good in everything.

Segue colloquio per l'accertamento delle capacità manageriali, delle capacità di ragionamento, dell'attitudine e della motivazione rispetto al ruolo da ricoprire.

Traccia 5 (in lingua inglese)

A SECOND CHANCE

What would you do differently if you had a second chance? What have you learned from your decisions? What advice you have for others who may face similar choices?

A few years ago Larry Cadish, a psychologist, launched his website: regretsonly.com.

Larry encouraged people to send in their regrets and send them on the Web.

The idea was so popular that Larry even published a book of hundreds of the regrets he had received.

Here are some examples:

Linda, 35, social worker

I wish I had given the plain- looking guy a second chance while I was at school.

I always went for handsome, athletic types. So, where am I today? Married to a good-looking idiot! A handsome man who has no heart, no compassion and no love for anyone but himself.

I sometimes visit my family back in my home town and occasionally I run into my old classmates - the plain-looking guys. And what do I see now? Very intelligent, warm funny men. I wish I could swap my husband with one of them!

Ben, 52, mechanic

I wish I had listened to my parents more when I was a teenager: Thinking back they gave me lots of good advice that I ignored. Now I have got two teenagers of my own and I realise how right they were. If I had listened to them I would have made better decisions in my life. I would have gone to university and I would have waited more before I got married. I hope my daughters will listen to me more than listened to my parents.
